1. The Junkers aircraft factory at Dessau is being dismantled at the rate of 500 tons of equipment per day. Twenty-thousand tons have already been removed since dismantling commenced.
2. The first location indicated for dismantled equipment was UFA in the Urals, from which center it is now said to be redistributed to Yaroslavl and a neighboring dispersal point.
3. The Junkers-Dessau Diesel engine development and series production departments are to be located near Moscow.
4. Jet engine development will probably be continued at an already existing jet research plant near Moscow. Series production of turbo-jet engines is being organized at Kuybyshev.
